90% of C-suite executives say their company pays attention to people's needs when introducing new technology. 53% of company staff say the same.

When the maturity of a legacy solution reaches an innovation and value plateau, organizations must decide whether to continue investing millions to realize diminishing returns or whether to transform their technology stack to achieve exponential growth, productivity and agility.

Technology should be the mechanism for which strategy is realized, not a means to an end. A best in breed solution like RedCarpet Onboarding™ can be leveraged alongside HCM suites. This delivers a seamless experience without sacrificing culture, productivity, engagement and retention.

One-size-fits-all platforms don't meet the needs of today's workforce, let alone tomorrow's. The workforce transformation needs of complex organizations will outpace the capacity and functionality of one-size-fits-all platforms.

Organizations should set their sights beyond baseline automation of administrative forms and leverage onboarding solutions that address learning, cultural orientation and social collaboration.

The next-generation HR function has an essential role to play, replacing traditional 'best practices and cost-cutting' approaches with bold new strategies, structures, tools, processes and metrics.
